BUILDING RESILIENCE TOGETHER

The only way to face a crisis is together.

As we adapted to stay-at-home restrictions and social distancing, we discovered new ways to connect. We learned that we can do amazing things to help others without leaving home. We may cover our faces, but we don't mask our aloha spirit as we rise up to help those struggling with basic human needs.

Along with the severe public health crisis, our community is facing an extreme economic crisis. Join Aloha United Way as we actively work to protect the health, safety, and well-being of our community as Hawaii confronts the ongoing impact from COVID-19.

Please donate to Aloha United Way to give hope to those struggling and to support our nonprofit partners providing services to those in need. Together we can build a more resilient Hawaii.
